BENEFITS OF CPD

Engaging in the mandatory Continuing Professional Development (CPD) programme offers estate agents various benefits, as it demonstrates:

- Commitment to Performance Excellence: A dedication to achieving and sustaining the highest standards of performance.
- Passion for Career Advancement: A fervour and commitment to progressing in their chosen career.
- Cultivation of Learning Culture: A commitment to continuous learning and improvement, both as professionals and law-abiding citizens.
- Sustained Interest in the Sector: An enduring interest in the estate agency and broader property sectors.
- Awareness of Industry Trends: Knowledge of relevant trends and developments in estate agency, including products, services, statutory compliance, and the formulation of efficient business strategies.
- Competence in Business Management: Skills and competence in establishing, managing, controlling, and expanding sustainable and successful estate agency enterprises, both economically and reputationally.

What does CPD stand for and why should I do CPD ?

Continuous Professional Development (CPD), enables property practitioners to stay current with industry trends, regulations, and best practices, ultimately enhancing their performance and contributing to their professional growth.

Who is qualified to partake in the CPD programme ?

All non-principal and principal property practitioners.

PDP Completion

To engage in the CPD eLearning programme, it is imperative to already have completed your Personal Development Plan (PDP). Verify that your PDP is current and aligned with your professional objectives.

Modules for Completion

CPD participants are instructed to finish four CPD modules annually in adherence to relevant regulations. Participants will observe that more than four modules are available this year, allowing them to select the modules most pertinent to their needs.

What is the fee ?

Please see the schedule of fees on our PPRA website. Ensure accurate payment of the CPD amount and use your seven-digit reference number when enrolling.
